So what is Hunt Hill Audubon Sanctuary?

Hunt Hill is a non-profit organization run by a volunteer Board of Directors known as the Friends of Hunt Hill Audubon Sanctuary. Financial support for our organization comes from programs, grants, foundations and membership support.

Nestled in the wooded, glacial hills of Washburn County, Hunt Hill is one of northern Wisconsin's most beautiful and diverse natural areas. Situated on 400 acres of majestic forests, meadow, bogs and pristine glacial lakes, our Sanctuary offers an ideal setting to experience nature. There are 10 miles of diverse trails allowing exploration of the varied habitats.

The main camp (see the photo below) consists of 3 dormitory buildings for overnight accommodations, farmhouse office, a barn that has been converted into a commercial kitchen and dining hall facility, program garage with nature displays and our library with fieldstone fireplace, games and reading materials. We also have 2 cabins available for rent just off the main camp.

Hunt Hill offers a wide range of programs to meet our mission and the needs of our environment, community and world. In 2015 we offered programs such as:

- Adult Language and Culture Immersion Camps
- Canoeing
  - School Field Trips
- Day Camps for Youth on: Dinosaurs, Rocks, Science Experiments, Bugs, Reptiles, etc.
- Bird Watching
- Amphibians
- And much more

Interesting Trivia:

Our name comes from the donor's family. Frances Andrew's family owned the two cabins located just off the main camp. When they used to vacation there, the family would refer to the retreat as Hunt Hill – in honor of their mother, whose maiden name was 'Hunt', and 'Hill' since the cabins were located on top of a hill.

Frances Andrews requested that this land become a Sanctuary (safe place) where ALL living things have the opportunity to live their full and entire lives; where animals are safe from hunting and trees allowed grow and eventually decompose - returning their nutrients back to the soil in which they grew.

L to R: Cross Dorm, Farmhouse Office, Barn Dining Hall, Program Garage, Library

Our Mission: Hunt Hill is a nature preserve and learning center, open to all, dedicated to fostering understanding, appreciation and protection of the environment.
